NO BASEBALL AND MORE RAIN

Elements Take a Stand Against the National Game.

WILL TRY IT AGAIN TODAY

DGDEN HAS STRENGTHENED AS WELL AS THE MAROONS.

Baseball fans are composed of persons from every walk of life, and many of them are bright men, who have been from every walk of life, and many of them are bright men, who have been known to tackle difficult problems and solve them satisfactorily to every one concerned. Considering this to be true, is it not possible for some fan to come forward at the present time and solve this weather question and let the rest of humanity know whether this neck of the woods is going to have any baseball playing weather this year, or find out if the fates are against us? The local baseball team is headed by men who generally get what they go after, and it is known positively that they brought all their influence to bear on the weather man yesterday in order to give the small army of baseball fans in this city just one baseball game.

The day started out all right, and the directors thought they had matters fixed. However, a slip in their calculations must have occurred somewhere, for one of the wettest rainstorms came up yesterday that ever caused the postponement of a ball game in any man's country. Just at a time when everything looked bright and the street cars going to the ball grounds began to fill with fans, happy over the thought that they were going to see a game, after so many disappointments, the storm broke loose, and in five minutes one could have pulled off a yacht race between the Reliance and Shamrock on the local diamond. If something does not break in this weather proposition pretty soon, there is liable to be several candidates for the insane asylum, to say nothing of the sulcides seen on the streets of Zion.

Another attempt will be made to play game of baseball at Walker's field this fternoon. It all depends on the weather. (anager Christie had a force of men busy ust evening draining the water off the lamond, and it will be in good shaperoviding it does not rain again today, he diamond is so located that a couple f hours of sunshine will put it in playing condition, and if this happens today here will be a game this afternoon.

Manager T. Gunn of the Calders team announced that the game scheduled to be played at the fort this afternoon with a picked team from this city had been called off on account of the rain. However, he says his team will do a little practice work on the grounds at that time if the latter are in playing condition.

The Keith-O'Reice.

The Keith-O'Brien baseball team, composed of boys ranging from 12 to 15 years of age, is now organized and ready to meet any team in the city in its class. The members have just been fitted out with maroon uniforms similar to those used by the Salt Lake team. They line to a solution of the salt of the sal
